Edsel Ford's New Launch Is Aground

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 6—(UP)—Edsel Ford's new $450,000 yacht, Sialia, launched only last month at Newport, was hard aground today on a reef near Hens and Chickens lightship about four miles off Horse-neck Beach.

Ford was not aboard but Captain Oscar Anderson and a crew of 17 men were taken off the stranded craft by the crew of Coast Guard patrol boat 287, which had been dispatched to the scene from the base at Woods Hole.

Another patrol boat, No. 281, was standing by.

The Sialia went aground early today. Her plight was noted by the steamship George Washington, which radioed the Coast Guard station at Chatham. It, in turn, relayed the message to the Woods Hole base, and the two patrol boats were dispatched.

Model Husband Is Sentenced To Die

Whitson, Ill., Dec. 6—(AP)—John Preston, 28-year-old Chicago convict, was found guilty last night of the murder on October 12, of Agnes Johnson, the verdict carrying a penalty of death in the electric chair.

Miss Johnson and Matilda Murphy were Preston's companions the night of the murder. In her testimony yesterday, Miss Murphy told of a wild automobile ride enroute to a roadhouse in West Chicago and of how she escaped from Preston's advances, leaving her companion behind to be strangled to death.

Preston testified he recalled nothing between the time he started for the roadhouse until he found himself in a freight car, after the murder, bound for Chicago.

Preston, whose wife termed him "a model husband," based his plea for life on the contention he had drunk himself into a state of irresponsibility.

WIND IN LATE AUTUMN
THE WIND rides out at dawn. His heart is very proud. He wears a floating plume. And trumpets long and loud!

He rides against the hills. And darts the canyons deep. The pine-trees moan and call. The leafless willows weep.

He hurls a veil of gray Across the flaming sun. The clouds in marshaled lines Along the sky-ways run.

He drives the sails at sea And battles with the waves. The sea gulls wheel and cry. And seek their ledgy caves.

All day he bugles far Against a sullen sky. All day the autumn leaves In drifts go winging by.

He mounts the twilight wall And flutes so sweet and low. The purple gates swing wide. And only soft winds blow.
—Caroline West.

Birthday Party Delightful Affair

Miss Alice Zwilling delightfully entertained two tables of bridge in honor of her fourteenth birthday, at her home Wednesday evening. Her home was very daintily decorated with lovely flowers.

Those present were Misses Helen Elizabeth Bartholomew, Mary Catherine Rorer, Helen Elizabeth Rorer, and Alice Zwilling. The boys were Warren Stout, Charles Sodergren, Leroy Cook and Ray Kline.

Prizes were later given. Miss Helen Elizabeth Bartholomew received the ladies high prize and Charles Sodergren the men's high prize. Miss Helen Elizabeth Rorer received the ladies' consolation prize and Warren Stout, the men's consolation prize.

Very delightful refreshments were served at a late hour of cake and sandwiches.

After leaving Miss Zwilling a variety of lovely gifts, and wishing her many happy returns of the day, the boys and girls departed.

Jeritza Roughly Handled in "Girl of the Golden West"
New York, Dec. 6.—Drama about the wild and woolly west seems a trifle too rough for these effete days; at least, the Metropolitan Opera Company has found it so.

In the third mishap that has marked this season's revival of the Puccini-Belasco opera, "The Girl of the Golden West," Maria Jeritza was stabbed with a wooden knife last night and so wounded she sang with difficulty the closing "Addio mia California."

It was near the end of the opera when Mme. Jeritza, playing the role of Minnie, was holding theirate miners, at bay and preventing the lynching of the outlaw hero, Dick Johnson. She knocked the pistol from the hand of one of the Forty-Niners, but in the excitement of the performance he lunged again with a wooden stage knife and dealt her a severe blow in the chest. She finished the performance, but took a curtain call in evident pain. She was treated in her dressing room for bruises and skin abrasion, but declined the services of a physician.

A somewhat similar accident occurred during a performance in Brooklyn Tuesday night when Mme. Jeritza suffered a sharp blow on the hand from a stage gun, which temporarily crippled her as she tried to mount her horse. Tibbett, playing the Sheriff, was struck on the nose by a falling ladder several nights ago but was saved from serious injury by putting her hand used to build up his nose for the role.

Hefley-Moore Wedding Celebrated

Miss Lorraine Hefley, daughter of Mrs. Patricia Hefley, and Howard Moore of Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore, were united in marriage, Wednesday, Dec. 4th in Rockford, with Rev. A. W. Carlson, formerly of Dixon, now pastor of the Grace Methodist church of Rockford, officiating at the impressive ring ceremony. The young folks were attended by a young Rockford couple.

After the wedding ceremony the new bride and bridegroom motored to Dixon, where they were very happily surprised at the home of the groom, by a host of friends and relatives from Rockford and Dixon. A most appetizing wedding dinner was served by Mr. and Mrs. Moore. The tables and the home were beautifully decorated with flowers and ferns for the occasion.

Afterward there was much enjoyment and merriment in music and dancing. The newlyweds will make their future home in Rockford at 524 Mulberry. They are followed by the best wishes of hosts of Dixon friends, for both are very popular and delightful young people.

Am. Legion Auxiliary Christmas Party Was Best Experienced

The Christmas dinner and party of the American Legion Auxiliary, Dixon Unit, No. 12 held Wednesday in Legion hall was a very enjoyable affair. Members and guests to the number of 75 were present. A beautifully decorated Christmas tree standing at the head of the hall proved of much attraction to the small guests present.

Dinner was served at 12:30. Small Christmas trees and red candles were the table decorations. The menu was a long list of good things to eat, with each one doing ample justice to every thing. The committee in charge is to be complimented on the success of the dinner.

A short business meeting was held at 2:30, after which a program was given by the small folks. This was much enjoyed and was as follows: Janet Kelly—Recitation.
Betty Lou Madick—Recitation.
Marilee Burns—Song.
Junior Kelly—Recitation.
Mary Edith Madick—Recitation.
Gale Gardner—Song.
Betty George—Piano solo.

The exchange of gifts followed. This was the most delightful moment of the whole day for the little folks who had waited so patiently while "grown-ups" had done such dull things as eating, washing dishes, and had a stupid business session, etc.

The new bulletins were received. These are a combination of Legion and Auxiliary news and the first issue to go out.

The joint Christmas program adopted at the State Convention at Rock Island this year of the Legion and Auxiliary will amount to approximately $6,000.00. There are many organizations which are anxious to help in this Christmas program. Let us avail ourselves of the generous spirit of good will so abundant at the holiday season to make happy these men who gave so much for us.

Most Interesting Missionary Meeting At M. E. Church

A meeting of unusual charm and beauty to all women in the city of Dixon interested in missionary work was held at the Methodist church yesterday afternoon. It was the regular monthly meeting of the Foreign Missionary Society of that church, but was made the occasion for a public meeting when the women of the various missionary societies were invited. This to hear reports from the international meeting held at Columbus, Ohio, in October last, celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church. The interdenominational character of this meeting made a public meeting of the women's missionary societies of Dixon timely and beneficial.

The east room on the main floor of the church where the local meeting was held was given a typical foreign setting. Oriental decorations made it easy to visualize the reports of missionary activities as they were brought by those on the program. The capacity of the room was taxed making it apparent that Dixon is not a provincial community and that interest in world wide undertakings has by no means died out. Representatives from Harmon, Rock Falls and Morrison were also present.

Miss Caille Morgan, president of the local Foreign Missionary society, presided. Mrs. A. T. Stephenson had charge of the devotional period. The special music was furnished by Mrs. Amos Grover, who sang in her characteristic beautiful fashion, and by Miss Viola Vaage whose violin

The Chic Women's "Uniform" from Season to Season

By FRANCES PAGET
Copyright, 1929, by Style Sources
New York, Dec. 6.—(UP)—Colors may come and colors may go—but black goes on forever. No matter how lovely the new shades or how varied, the chic of black is unchallenged.

There are countless women who have a passion for it, and while they have no aversion to colors, the black frock is the one in which they feel most at home. It is a smart habit they have acquired, and one that is readily understood, especially since it so patently bears the Paris stamp of approval. While the black crepe afternoon frock has become so ubiquitous as to deserve the term of "uniform," it is so diversified in type, and so suitable for all hours of the day that the term carries with it none of the approbrium attached to some styles that are called "popular."

The all-black frock belongs in a category which may be termed practical, economical and at the same time chic—a rare combination. It deserves this designation, its advantages indeed, an excellent background for various accessories, a correct nucleus about which to build the costume, and it is always in the style picture. Then, too, in considering the popularity of the all-black frock, one must realize that it exerts a certain psychology. The sophisticated woman quite naturally turns to black, feeling that it expresses her type, while the less sophisticated woman hops that in wearing black she has acquired some measure of that most desirable quality.

CARNELIAN NECKLACE—A hand-wrought gold link necklace has five links holding carved carnelians. It is lovely with a tulle frock in carnelian tone.

THE POWER OF A BOOK.

Once you turn an idea loose in the world there is no telling just how far it will go or how much influence it will have.

When Remarque, German war veteran, wrote his "All Quiet on the Western Front," he presented the world with an idea which, while not particularly new, was powerful and far-reaching.

His idea, summed up, was simply this: that modern warfare is so horrible, so soul-killing, so inherently senseless and insane, that it is the most dreadful calamity that can possibly come upon any people.

Now it begins to be apparent that his presentation of this idea is having so much effect that certain people are becoming afraid of it.

A German officers' association, for example, is sending out stories to the effect that Remarque himself did not actually see any fighting during the war; that he is a faker, a poseur, spinning his tale of horror simply for momentary gain.

On top of that, Mussolini prohibits publication of the book in Italy, in any form. Czechoslovakia has barred the book from soldiers' libraries. Public libraries in New Zealand and in certain countries of Central and South America have barred the book. Austria refuses to let her soldiers read it.

Apparently a number of the rulers of this world are desperately afraid of this novel—so afraid of it that they do not want anybody to read it if they can possibly help it.

Why should this be so? Why should Mussolini, for instance, who holds all of Italy in a grip of iron, make it illegal to publish or import this book in his nation? Why should other rulers put as many restrictions as they can in its path?

Why? Simply because a book, once it catches the imagination of mankind, can be as powerful as an army with banners. It can overturn ancient customs, jar men into acceptance of a new order.

The American revolution might have failed if it had not been for the writings of Tom Paine. Behind the mobs of the French revolution moved the pamphlets of Voltaire and Rousseau. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" helped to bring on the Civil War in America.

That is the way it always is. A scribbler can move the world if he hits the right note. "All Quiet," which sets forth the case for pacifism better than any other book of the century, is moving forward powerfully and relentlessly. You may not agree with the book. But you must admit that its publication may prove one of the most important events of the last decade.

WHY NOT TRY?

The great Christmas rush will soon be on. How few of us ever stop to think what the Christmas season means to millions of people in this country—the postal workers, the clerks and the delivery men. For them it is a season of hard work—fatiguing in the extreme. Many of them will work 18 hours a day.

And all because so many of us put off buying and mailing those Christmas presents until the eleventh hour. You will find it much more satisfactory to do your Christmas mailing and shopping early and you will be making Christmas more of a season of joy than drudgery for millions of your neighbors.

Americans pay an average of $2,500,000 daily for automobile accidents, says a statistician. How is it, then, that you never can collect?

A British baronet says that eating together is a social and civilizing thing. But it's also dangerous—if you invite senators to a wet dinner.

Judging by recent captures, the rum industry seems to have been educated correctly to the Wall Street merger idea.

On the level, we don't like back-seat driving. Or on the hills either.

The terrapin industry is threatened with failure, we read, but there always will be plenty of poor fish.

It begins to appear that some of the protective tariff people failed to protect themselves.

The Karolyis finally have been admitted to this country. That was the reason, of course, for the recent market crash.

New York's mayor's name is Walker, but he seems to run pretty well.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNOX

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Out on the deck the Tinymites brought their sled and Scouty said, "We ought to get away from here before the captain rushes out. He'll see us talking to this elf and make a nuisance of himself by making us explain to him what we are now about."

"A good idea," said the elf. "I'll start you on your way myself. Just hop aboard your little sled and leave the rest to me. I'll send you sailing through the air. Hang on real tight and have a care. You don't think I can do it, but I'm strong as I can be."

The Tinymites all had their doubts but with some very merry shouts they did as they were told and then Scouty cried, "All right! Send us a-flying, if you please so we can ride upon the breeze!" The elf then picked the sled up and just as if it were very light.

He flung it quickly into air. At first it gave the bunch a scare, but soon they found that they were riding onward safe and sound. The elf then flapped his monstrous wings. Oh, my, what funny looking things. He caught up with the Tinymites and said, "Northward we are bound."

They traveled for an hour or so. Then Clowny loudly shouted, "Oh! The air is getting mighty cold. Please tell us, what's the cause?" The elf just smiled and said, "You'll find that I am being very kind. No wonder it is cold! You're going to meet old Santa Claus."

"Oh, gee! That's great!" one Tiny cried. Then downward they began to slide. The sled dropped to a river which was covered o'er with ice. "You'll soon be there," the elf cried out. "And you'll be tickled pink, no doubt, when you meet good old Santa. He is very, very nice."

(The Tinymites reach Toyland in the next story.)

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY

Ninety-nine years ago today, on Dec. 6, 1833, the American Anti-Slavery Society was organized in Philadelphia by delegates from the few state and city societies then existing.

The society sought immediate abolition of slavery, and its work was for many years looked upon as fanatical or at least hopelessly impractical.

Members of the society were denounced, its meetings broken up, and rewards offered in the south for its leader dead or alive. Conflicting opinion on the question of political action caused a split in the society in 1840.

Non-voters under Garrison gained control of the old society. Others formed the American and Foreign Anti-Slavery Society, but the organization had outgrown a society and found a more conservative expression in the Liberty Party and its successors.

The parent organization continued to exist until after the adoption of the fifteenth amendment in 1870.

Good Thoughts for Good People

GOOD THOUGHTS

Hope anchors the earth-bound pilgrim to stability when the storms rage and the tempests strain every point in one's moral and physical make-up. Paul connected this element with faith and charity (love); and when it is applied with these virtues, hope is no small element in Christian character. The hope of salvation and of immortality is found to be deathless when one becomes convinced that his real, spiritual, an indestructible existence is in God.

The Christian Science Monitor. Whether we be young or old, Our destiny, our being's heart and home, Is with infinitude, and only there: With hope it is, hope that can never die.

Wordsworth

Hope is like the sun, which as we journey towards it, casts the shadow of our burden behind us.

Samuel Smiles

Behind the cloud the starlight lurks, Through showers the sunbeams fall; For God, who loveth all His works, Has left His Hope with all.

Whittier

Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is in the health of my countenance, and my God.

KONJOLA ENDS STOMACH ILLS OF VETERAN, 84.

Suffered for Seven Years with Stubborn Case—Finds Quick Relief in New Medicine.

"I have suffered with my stomach for several years," said Mr. Thomas Marling, a Civil War veteran, 813 East Second street, Pana. I have tried many different remedies and medicines and nothing helped me until I began taking Konjola. My food did not digest properly and gases formed in my stomach. I was subject to stomach and abdominal pains and would often become short of breath.

I began taking Konjola a short time ago and have now taken four bottles. Almost from the beginning I felt an improvement in my condition. The accumulating gases no longer bother me and bloating no longer occurs after meals. My appetite has improved and I am gaining strength. I am still using Konjola and shall continue to do so. I am amazed at what this new medicine has done for a man of my age.

Konjola is sold in Dixon at FORD HOPKINS DRUG STORE, 123 W. 1st street, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

DIETICIAN ADDS WORDS OF PRAISE

"Since taking Kavatore I feel as though I were twenty years younger," Jackson man says.

Mr. Reehiten's experience with Kavatore is of unusual interest due to the fact that he is a retired dietitian, in which capacity he naturally spent years of thought and study on the subject of foods and their effect on the human system. "I have been troubled for years by indigestion, kidney trouble and neuritis," said Mr. Reehiten, who resides on R. F. D. No. 9 near Jackson.

PAUL REEHITEN.

"I had hardly no appetite and when I did eat anything it seemed as though it soured and fermented in my stomach and came up in my throat like vinegar. Gas bloated me and caused intense pain. Then I had a constantly dull ache across the small of my back and sharp pains shot across my kidneys every time I stooped over. I was also troubled by pains right across my shoulders that caused me much agony. Of course this condition of my system made me very nervous and restless. I used everything and anything that my friends told me about—but nothing gave me any noticeable relief until I started to use Kavatore. I have used six bottles now and I feel as though I were 20 years younger. I eat and sleep like a new man. The pains across my back and shoulders have disappeared and I hope this statement is the means of Kavatore helping other folks as it did me."

The Kavatore man is at the FORD HOPKINS DRUG CO., where he is daily meeting the public and personally explaining the merits of this great preparation. The famous Kavatore figure (an ingenious human torso showing every organ of the body) is used in this demonstration and everyone is cordially invited to see and study this figure, an experience which will be interesting and instructive.

Iowa's Fate Will Be Decided This Evening

BY WILLIAM WEEKS
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Chicago, Dec. 6 (AP)—Whether the golf and black banner of the University of Iowa will continue to wave from Western Conference stadium will be debated by the Big Ten faculty committee on athletics tonight.

Since last May when the school was given notice that after January 1, 1930, it would be barred from competing in athletics against other members of the conference, the banner has floated on sufferance, pending a final decision by the faculty committee.

Iowa was not asked to send its representatives to the annual meeting to plead for reinstatement to all athletic privileges. After being turned down last June when its first plea was made, Iowa continued to work on the business of straightening up its athletics affairs, along lines suggested by the committee, and selected the annual meeting as the time to petition again.

JUNIOR LEAGUE MAY BAR RADIO STORY OF GAMES

Magnates are Expected to Take Such Action At Next Meet

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago, Dec. 6 (AP)—The important question of allowing radio broadcasting of baseball games in the American League will come for consideration when the club owners meet in the Hotel Commodore, New York, next Tuesday.

E. S. Barnard, president of the league, indicated today that the owners might decide to follow the decision of Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, in denying the privilege of broadcasting from the St. Louis park for the 1930 season. President Barnard said broadcasting of baseball games "has become a business—an advertising business," with the broadcasters reaping the financial reward and with no financial returns going to the baseball clubs which provide the entertainment.

"When the broadcasting of baseball games first came up for discussion," President Barnard said today, "baseball men were opposed to it for the reason they believed it would hurt the circulation of newspapers. Later on, some of the club owners figured it would hurt the attendance at their games."

"Now we need discuss neither phase of his question. Radio broadcasting has become a business—an advertising business. Major league baseball has afforded the broadcasting companies the opportunity to secure a large audience for such advertising for which they are lavishly paid without cost to themselves."

"In other words, the broadcasters are reaping a golden harvest from the major league clubs without any financial return to the clubs which provide the entertainment."

Reports have reached President Barnard that one broadcasting station, giving a radio description of games in one American league park, has advertising contracts for 1930 totaling $50,000 for baseball alone.

President Barnard expects the American League to take a definite stand against the practice of some clubs creating artificial doubleheaders by means of calling off regularly scheduled games upon the slightest provocation. The league is opposed to such practice, President Barnard said, and believes that every game should be played on the date it is scheduled, if it is possible to do so.

Common Ownership In Baseball Condemned

BY BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 6 (AP)—Baseball men from the minor leagues went about their business of closing their annual convention today with a denunciation of "common ownership" in baseball, from K. M. Landis, Baseball Commissioner, ringing in their ears.

Speaking at the annual banquet of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues last night, the Commissioner declared emphatically that baseball club ownership should be individual, one interest owning one organization.

Many major league clubs now have baseball "farms" in the minor leagues and several of the larger minors have clubs in leagues of lower classification, acting as feeders to develop talent for the parent club.

"We must solve the problem of the little fellows," said Mr. Landis. At the same time he disclaimed any intent to fix responsibility for the prevailing condition which he regarded as unfortunate. The minors, he had found since his arrival at Chattanooga for the convention, are even now seeking baseball "angels" in the major leagues.

All minors will be doomed unless a remedy can be found to restore baseball to its former high favor, he declared. He suggested that the "common ownership" has been a contributing factor to the despond in which the game rests in many sections of the country today.

Army Team To Play Four Major Games

West Point, N. Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—The Army's football team, with Major Ralph Sassa holding the coaching reins relinquished by "Biff" Jones, will content itself with four major games next fall, all of them in eastern territory.

The schedule announced today revealed a program of ten games with battles against Harvard, Yale, Illinois and Notre Dame as the high spots.

The Cadets met this same "Big Four" this season and still have a contest with a fifth big-time opponent, Stanford at Palo Alto, Dec. 28. This year the cadets have tied Harvard and lost to Yale, Illinois and Notre Dame.

In order to play Army Nov. 8, the Illinois will come east the first time since Red Grange ran wild against Pennsylvania at Franklin field in 1925.

Turns Down Offer Of Million For Horse

Chicago, Dec. 6 (AP)—John D. Hertz, Chicago sportsman, has refused an offer of $1,000,000 the largest bid on record, for his champion thoroughbred, Reigh Count—and can't understand why anyone should offer that much money for a horse, nor why he rejected the bid.

The offer was made by W. T. Waggoner, Texas millionaire, owner of horses wearing the Three D. silks, and immediately was refused.

"I think a fellow who would pay a million dollars for a horse should be examined—and a fellow who would turn down that price, certainly must be unbalanced," he said.

So. California To Pick Own Opponents

New York, Dec. 6 (AP)—With the Southern California Trojans already selected as the western team to take part in the Tournament of Roses football game at Pasadena New Year's day, interest in the impending contest now centers on the three more prominent eastern contenders for the game.

Most of the football followers in this section appeared today to have decided that Pitt will be selected, but they were not forgetting the great records made by Tulane and Purdue.

Pittsburgh Turns Down Offer Of Game

Pittsburgh, Dec. 6 (UP)—The University of Pittsburgh athletic council has rejected an invitation to play St. Mary's college in a post season game at San Francisco, Dec. 21, it was announced today.

Lloyd Warren Walter, pastor.

9:30 A. M. Bible School. The bad weather last Sunday had a bad effect on the attendance. Sometimes it takes a while to recover from a slump. May hat not be true at this time. Will you help your teacher recover and regain the regular attendance of every one in your class.

Regularity is a Christian duty and also a great privilege.

10:45 A. M. Divine Worship. The regular choir sings. Your presence in the Sanctuary on Sunday morning is one among other means of bearing your witness to men, of whom you love and serve. 6:30 P. M. Luther League. A pleasant and profitable hour with the young people of our church is promised. Topic: "The First Coming of Christ." The devotional committee will have charge. It is worth while to come early and enjoy these Sunday evening meetings.

7:30 P. M. Vespers. The Young People's Choir sings. There could be no better place to spend your Sunday evenings out than in the Lord's House. First, we invite and encourage our own people in this holy privilege; and second, with the other churches of Dixon we invite friends and strangers to this holy privilege.

Sermon topic: "The Blessed and Only Potentate."

7:30 P. M. Wednesday, midweek service. Topic for discussion, "The Christian Spirit in Industry."

2:30 P. M. Thursday, Woman's Missionary Society meets at the parsonage. Subscribers and renew your subscriptions now to the "Lutheran Woman's Work." Phone Mrs. Norman Long or Mrs. Walter. Be sure to attend the meeting.

7:45 P. M. Tuesday, Young Women's Missionary Society meets with Miss Bernice Good, 1208 Peoria Ave. Along with the lesson a Christmas party is planned.

B. C. Whitmore, Pastor.

The services at the Brethren church next Lord's day will be the regular services of Sunday school, which begins at 10 o'clock, and the worship hour at 11. The theme for the morning sermon will be, "Music in Worship." Illustrations which children can appreciate are usually given, in fact the whole service is arranged to help every worshiper. A real effort is made to bring God's message to God's children and all who love the Lord.

The evening service begins at 7:30 the sermon at 7:45. The message, "What God Expects of His People," will be delivered at that hour. You and your friends are cordially invited to always worship with us.

NATIONAL TEA CO.
CELEBRATES 30th
ANNIVERSARYTremendous Progress in Food
Distributing Field

Thirty years ago on December 8th, 1899, in the great metropolis of the Middle West the first National Tea Co. store was opened. The owner and founder of this store had a great vision; he conceived the idea of numerous food outlets direct from the farmer or manufacturer to the consumer. By this direct method he knew that he would save the people of the Middle West millions of dollars annually on their food bill.

A Dream Fulfilled
Sound merchandising policies won the confidence of the people of the Middle West, and today National Tea Co. operates over 1600 grocery stores and meat markets in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan.

Advantages to You
Deep thinking, unbiased men and women, whether leaders in business circles, outstanding in farm or labor organizations, officials of civic bodies and clubs, or otherwise active, give credit to chain store food distributing methods like that perfected by the National Tea Co., not only for the direct savings to the consumer but also for the effect of these savings in raising the standard of living of the American people.

These savings from economical food distributing methods are passed on to the American family and enable it to invest in the better things of life, which in turn creates more business and more work in other fields.

Community Interest
The managers and clerks of a National Tea Co. store located in your community are urged to take part in all civic and social enterprises.

National Tea Co. stores contribute their share to the up-keep of the town or city, county and state, and federal government wherever they are located.

It can be said that wherever National Tea Co. stores are offering you quality foods they do not shrink their duty in co-operating with all consistent civic and community affairs and charitable institutions.

Has Helped Farmers
National Tea Co. stores sell millions of farm products yearly which formerly could not be marketed due to the highly perishable nature of these products and the old-fashioned round-about method of food distribution. It is estimated that strictly farm products shipped direct from the fields to our stores amount to approximately $40,000,000.00 and an almost equal amount of canned foods and cereals are distributed. Thus by selling high-grade merchandise in greater quantities and speeding it from farmer direct to the consumer losses to the farmer have been minimized.

Saving Win Confidence
By aiding the farmer in his marketing and the consumer in saving and rendering additional co-operation to the manufacturer, National Tea Co.'s sound food distributing policies have been given increased appreciation each year. This great progress is evidenced in the growth from year to year of our annual sales.

In 1919 National Tea Co. operated 143 grocery stores and sold $13,167,984.00 worth of quality food products. For the year 1929 reports indicate that sales will be $30,900,000.00 or more, and over 1650 grocery stores and meat markets will be in operation. This marvelous growth during the last ten years proves conclusively that the consumer appreciates saving money on better groceries and that the farmer, producer and other merchants believe in National Tea Co.'s food distributing methods.

A partial invitation is extended to the people of the Middle West to visit a National Tea Co. store during this 30th Anniversary Sale.

Daily Health Talk

INFANTILE PARALYSIS
BY JULIUS H. HESS, M. D.
Chicago, Illinois

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

Infantile paralysis is an infectious and communicable disease caused by the invasion of the central nervous system—the spinal cord and brain—of a minute microorganism.

The virus may be located in healthy persons. The mucous membrane of the nose and throat of healthy persons who have been in intimate contact with acute cases of infantile paralysis may become contaminated with the virus, and such contaminated persons, without falling ill themselves, may convey the infection to other persons, chiefly children, who develop the disease.

Fortunately, at least 50 to 80 per cent, or even more, of individuals infected with the microorganism do not develop paralysis in any form. In some of them there will be a high temperature with a sore throat or nasal symptoms or a gastro-intestinal disturbance of a few days duration, followed by complete recovery. These undiagnosed cases are, however, the most dangerous cases, insofar as the public is concerned, because they are potential spreaders of the disease, often continuing their usual contact with other children throughout their illness.

Having gained entrance to those easily accessible parts of the body, multiplication of the virus occurs there, following which, in a small percentage of cases, it penetrates to the brain and spinal cord by way of the lymphatic channels that connect the upper nasal membrane with the interior of the skull. Whether or not the virus ever enters the body in any other way is unknown.

Individual susceptibility varies. Not all children and relatively few adults are susceptible to infantile paralysis. Young children are more susceptible generally speaking, than older ones; but no age can be said to be absolutely insusceptible. When several children exist in a family or in group one may become paralyzed while the others escape altogether or develop an acute illness without paralysis, or such slight and fleeting paralysis as to be difficult of detection. The light or abortive cases, as they are called, indicate a greater general susceptibility than has been recognized and their discovery promises to have far-reaching consequences in respect to the means employed to limit the spread or eradicate foci of the disease.

Fortunately, only a very small number of the attacked are left severely and helplessly crippled. Lamentable as it is that even one should be so affected, it is nevertheless, a reassurance to know that so many recover altogether, and that so much of what appears to be permanent paralysis disappears in time.

There exists at present no safe method of preventive inoculation or vaccination and no practicable method of specific treatment. The prevention of the disease must be accomplished through general sanitary means; recovery from the disease is a spontaneous process that can be greatly assisted by proper medical and surgical care.

The disease is seen most commonly in late summer and in the fall of the year. Every case should be reported to the health authorities, who in turn will inform the public of the number of cases in the community and the severity of the epidemic. Your children, being most susceptible

Decatur Firemen To Help Children

Decatur, Ill., Dec. 6—(UP)—Christmas cheer will be provided for 215 children here by the efforts of local firemen who have utilized idle time between alarms by fashioning doll beds.

The beds were completed recently and the firemen are awaiting their result of an appeal for dolls, bed clothing, mattresses and pillows to make their task complete.

The beds measure 22 inches by 12 1/2 inches inside. Work in constructing them was started a month ago. Local industries contributed the lumber, paint and nails to make the beds.

The beds will be delivered the day before Christmas.

SWEEPER COMPOSER

London—Until recently G. H. Turner of Whitefields, swept the country roads. Now he's on the road to success as a song composer. He taught himself music and composed his own melodies. He recently sent a composition to Bert Beldman, music publisher, who pronounced it a find and predicted a brilliant future for Turner.

Japan Prepares for Arms Parley

Not Built for Pleasure

The lines of this commercial motor transport are snappy enough to belong to a pleasure car. Leaving off the caterpillar tread and the roller in the front, it could easily be taken for such. The car, a Citroen on display at the Commercial Motor Transport Exhibition at the Olympia Auto Show in London recently, uses the roller in the front to climb embankments. This roller catches on the earth of the banks and the power fed to the tread in the rear rolls the front end up the grade.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
MRS. EMMA HOGARTH, who lived in Mrs. RHODES' boarding house, is strangled to death between 11:45 and 12:15 Saturday night, June 29. Assisting LIEUT. STRAWN in the investigation is ROBERT MAGNUS, who detected the EMIL SEVIER, former boarder, whom Mrs. Hogarth accused of trying to rob her, is sought.

CORA BARKER, theater pianist, thought to have had an affair with SEVIER, the arrested murderer, testified. Other boarder suspects were HENRY DOWDY, NORMA FAIGER, and L. E. H. STYLES, who had quarreled with Mrs. Hogarth. BERT MAGNUS, a road ticket, showed he left New York June 3. SEVIER, captured by police, insists he did not murder Mrs. Hogarth. BARKER, who went to New York, June 2, Dundee concludes crime involved both women and that he is now or has been a boarder in the Rhodes house.

Dundee is excited over his find of an old envelope with Dowdy's name on it, which had contained a road ticket, showing he left New York June 3. SEVIER, captured by police, insists he did not murder Mrs. Hogarth. BARKER, who went to New York, June 2, Dundee concludes crime involved both women and that he is now or has been a boarder in the Rhodes house.

Dundee drew a shuddering breath. He was glad the poor, discolored face was bowed down upon the grotesquely sprawled knees, so that he could not see it in all its horror.

"She's been dead for hours," he heard Sergeant Turner saying to Commissioner O'Brien. "Rigor mortis has already set in. I think it will be better for us to get the body to the morgue before we rouse the whole house, don't you, Commissioner?"

"Yes, by all means. Warn the boys to keep a sharp watch over the boarders' rooms, but not to answer any questions. You've got three men on the grounds, haven't you?"

"STEADY, boy!" Police Commissioner O'Brien warned as his white-faced nephew opened the door to him and Sergeant Turner. 10 minutes later, they stood clinging to the knob, his body swaying drunkenly. "Can't have you keel over before Dr. Price gets here. He's on the way. This is tough on you, I know—but all in a day's work for a detective."

"I know," Dundee wiped a new string of icy sweat beads from his forehead and stood aside, to let the newcomers see the ghastly sight upon which his own eyes had rested when he had forced his way into Cora Barker's room.

"Have you touched the body?" Sergeant Turner demanded briskly. "No," Dundee pressed his knuckles against his mouth to still the quivering of his lips. "I wanted to lift her back into her bed, but—Payne reminded me. She's—just as we found her."

"Good!" Turner, followed by O'Brien, stepped to the east window of the room and knelt beside the huddled body on the floor. "Good Lord! Strangled with her own braids! That's a new one on me. . . . Pretty clever! There'll be no fingerprints on her throat. SEVIER's a handy bird, isn't he? Doesn't take the trouble to provide a weapon in advance; just uses anything that will serve the purpose. . . . Poor old girl!"

SEVIER TURNER rose and stepped aside, and again Dundee's eyes took in the whole horrible picture before he came to the window—and to her death—clad only in a thin yellow silk night gown. Undoubtedly her murderer had called her to the window, and she had sprung from her bed—which had been slept in—without taking time to drape herself in the kimono which hung on a chair. Had gone to that window with her long braids of black hair swinging over her shoulders. Had her murderer counted on that very thing? Had he known that Cora would come to him, unconsciously offering a perfect means of strangulation? Or had the murder been unpremeditated?

At any event the long braids had been crossed in the back, drawn around and tied beneath her chin in a single knot. The whiplash of the hair had loosened the knot now, but the hands of the murderer had held fast to the ends of the braids until life had been extinguished.

Dundee drew a shuddering breath. He was glad the poor, discolored face was bowed down upon the grotesquely sprawled knees, so that he could not see it in all its horror.

"She's been dead for hours," he heard Sergeant Turner saying to Commissioner O'Brien. "Rigor mortis has already set in. I think it will be better for us to get the body to the morgue before we rouse the whole house, don't you, Commissioner?"

"Yes, by all means. Warn the boys to keep a sharp watch over the boarders' rooms, but not to answer any questions. You've got three men on the grounds, haven't you?"

Had gone to that window with her hurl and exasperated thousands of sweethearts and wives.

Gertrude Bryan gives a fine characterization of this fascinating person, and Allen Dinehart is equally happy in the leading male part. Brian Donlevy is featured in the comedy role, and the rest of the extremely capable company is comprised by Charlie Hedge, Eleanor Phelps, Warren Parker, and William Stone.

Public and Press Agree
"Queen Bee" makes pleasant evening. "Queen Bee" gives a natural performance. It is excellently staged, well acted. Miss Gertrude Bryan as the heroine, Allen Dinehart, who staged the production and jumped into the part rather recently, has directed the production intelligently. "Queen Bee" is something merry enough to warrant your dropping in for a night and amusing evening.

Gale Borden (Daily Times)
"Queen Bee" is Fresh and Snappy in its Light Fun. Miss Gertrude Bryan is every inch a queen as the Little Cort has harbored since—well probably since "Pigs". It is amusing all the way, snappy in dialogue and skillful in the playing.

C. J. Bulletin (Post)
The comedy "Queen Bee" is true to life, neither exalted nor tedious. Allen Dinehart is absolutely delightful, better looking than ever, a better actor than ever, if that is possible. Allen has always been starchy and brilliant, but is fine in this. Gertrude Bryan plays the bossy heroine, and plays it delightfully. She wears pretty cloths, and

YOU SHOULD KNOW THIS
Berlin—Know why an elephant wiggles its ears? Neither did we until Prof. Richard Heise of the University of Bonn, Germany, explained. It keeps him cool, the professor explains. Much blood circulates through the animal's ears and when he fans them they cool the blood considerably. The hotter the weather the faster the pachyderm wiggles his ears.
Do your feet hurt? Heals will give relief. It is wonderful. Try a box.
